

Taking Care of Your Piano

- An acoustic piano should be tuned twice a year to maintain good intonation & this also helps to keep the piano in good condition.
- An acoustic piano should be kept in a room where there is little temperature variation.
- A piano should be kept well away from an open fire.
- Avoid placing a piano inside a damp room. If there is no alternative a heater designed specifically for a piano can be put inside the instrument which will maintain an even temperature.
